Princeton VOICES

EACH SPEAKS OF EXCELLENCE

As a member of the service organization SPARKS at Princeton, Soraya spent two months in Kabul conducting interviews for a national oral history project and helping at centers for needy children. She made a short film about her experiences, Afghanistan Unveiled, and she plans to spend next summer documenting programs for street children in South America. Soraya, who is half Japanese and half Lebanese, plans to study political science with a focus on the Middle East.
